THE PROGRAMMES

The Second Step

Our 24 week programme is broken down into two modules which incorporate additional midway one to one sessions and support.

1st module: (12 Weeks)

Focuses on safer relationships. These sessions focus on themes such as awareness and understanding of abusive behaviour, the build-up to abuse, triggers and warning signs, and the impact on partners, children and those around us.

2nd Module: (12 Weeks)

Focuses on respectful relationships. These sessions concentrate on topics such as accountability, boundaries, jealousy, sexual respect, parenting and healthy communication.

Step Up Dads

This programme is for men that have completed our group interventions programme. The programme looks at fathering after being abusive in a relationship, goes into the impact of abuse on children (direct and indirect) and establishing a better relationship with children. The programme also explores the group members' own experiences of being fathered, and how to communicate appropriately with all ages of children regarding use of abuse.

One to One Intervention

One-to-one Interventions can be delivered in particular cases. These include:

Females using violence/abuse in relationships

People in same-sex relationships.

Individuals requiring an interpreter

Individuals with complex needs who would not be able to engage with a group intervention (This will be determined at assessment)

Clients between the age of 18 and 21.

Maintenance

We offer a monthly drop in session that clients can use for ongoing support and reminders of material/skills following completion of the 24 week programme.

Women's Programme

This programme looks at many of the same themes at The Second Step but is for women that have used violence/abuse within their relationships. The programme is tailored for the needs of women and the dynamics that may drive their use of abuse.

Foundations

A 6 week awareness building course. This discusses the difference between respectful and abusive relationships. It aids development of insight and understanding of problems within relationships and how things could be different.

This is generally for individuals that may be found unsuitable for The Second Step, due to not meeting the suitability criteria.
